

Group Classification of Three-wave Equations in Nonlinear optics

Sergey V. Meleshko*, Alexander V. Gorchakov

School of Mathematics,

Suranaree University of Technology, Nakhon Ratchasima, Thailand

sergey@math.sut.ac.th

Semiconductor Institute, RAS, Novosibirsk, Russia

gorchak@isp.nsc.ru

Abstract

First step of Lie group analysis application to the nonlinear optics three-wave equations is a group classification: the finding of an admissible group and equivalence group, construction of an optimal system of subalgebras. We completed these operations. One of the interesting result is that nontrivial equivalence group allows to simplify these equations.

*On leave from Institute of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics, RAS, Novosibirsk, Russia